Candidates Oppose New Tax Proposal

By Betty Person

Nebraska's present governor and three candidates for the chief executive post expressed their opposition Friday to the combination sales-income tax proposal for which initiative petitions are now being circulated.

Although they have somewhat different views on the problem, Gov. Ralph Brooks, Robert Conrad, Terry Carpenter and Frank Morrison have indicated they don't like the proposal announced this week.

The proposal calls for a constitutional amendment which would replace the state's property tax with a 2% retail sales and use tax and a graduated income tax with a maximum set at 4%. The petition proposal also would remove intangibles from the property tax field and exempt the first $2,000 on each taxpayer's household goods and personal effects.

vigorous in objections to the proposal.

He described it as "a bold attempt to undercut the tax program I advocate in my campaign, because the people behind this move are fearful I'll be elected and they're trying to tie my hands before I get there."

"Their whole proposal is like Pandora's Box—we don't know what it really contains in all its ramifications.

"One thing is certain from its language, however, the idea of removing intangibles from property taxes will be of obvious benefit to the big banks, insurance companies, trust companies and large stockholders.

'Bill Of Goods'

"They are the people underwriting it and trying to sell the people a bill of goods and attempting to use the public the same way they always have.

"The proposal can't help but mean more load on the people who can least afford it," Carpenter said.

"I'm against a sales tax unless the revenue goes to the local subdivisions of government and school districts where relief is most needed.

"State government, which takes a comparatively small portion of the tax dollar, has many more avenues available for gaining additional revenue than cities, counties or school districts have.

Robert Conrad, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said, "I am interested in seeing the question submitted to the voters. I have said that if necessary, I would lead a movement to see that they are given this opportunity.

"The current proposal, however, withdrawing intangibles from the field of property taxation; confining a $2,000 exemption to household goods and personal effects without extending any benefit to real estate, and removing the state from the property tax field with a token remittance to local government subdivisions, is a

MORE CLOUDY SKIES TODAY

Cloudy skies and slightly warmer temperatures in the west is the forecast for Nebraska Saturday.

Highs are expected to range from 40 to 50 in the extreme west, and 50 to 55 elsewhere.

The 5-day long-range forecast predicts below-normal temperatures lasting through next Wednesday, with precipitation amounting to around .30 of an inch during the period.

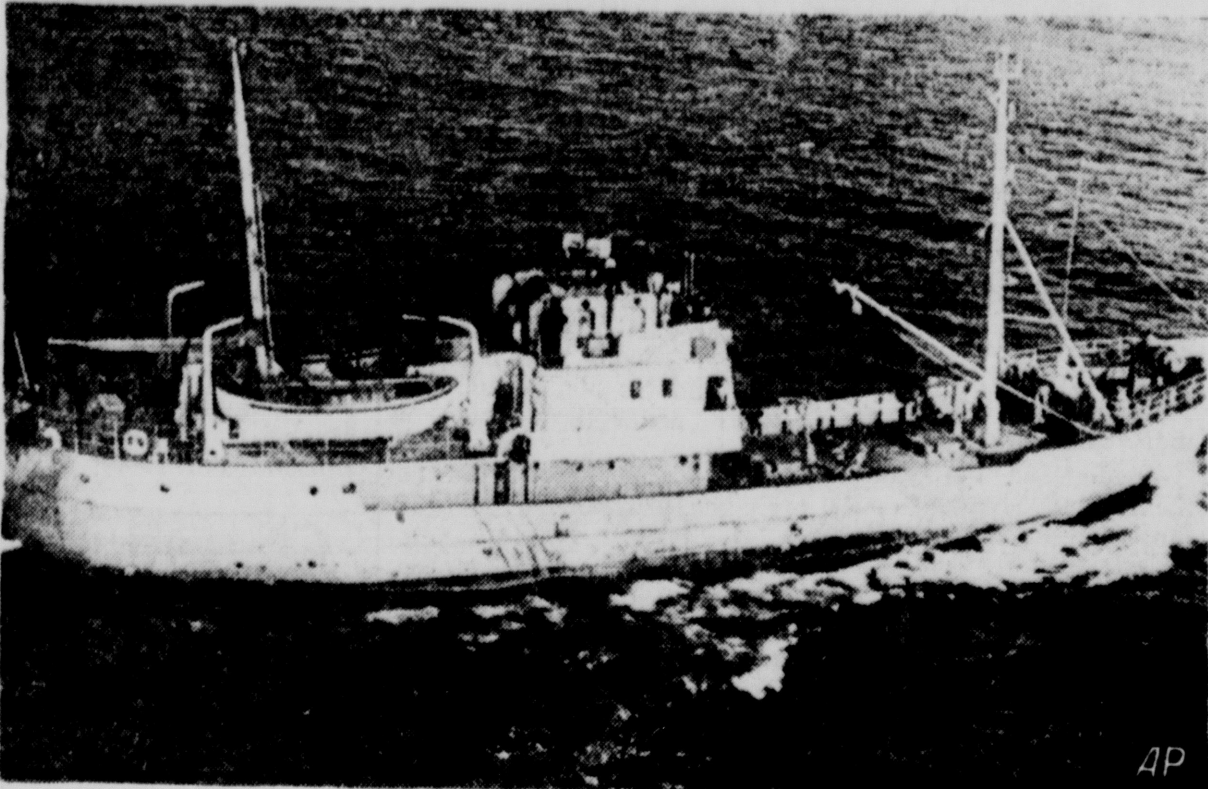

Rain was reported at almost every weather station across Nebraska Friday, with some western points reporting light snows.

The Lincoln Municipal Airport had the state high of 53 Friday, and Omaha and Lincoln reported 52-degree highs.

REDS EYE POLARIS SUB TESTS OFF N.Y.

The Navy released this photo taken of the Soviet trawler Vega only 60 miles off New York. The ship was within a mile of where a U.S. Navy missile submarine was testing launching gear.

Russ Trawler Photographed ... From U.S. Navy Blimp

Washington (AP)—A Russian trawler watched the new U.S. Navy Polaris submarine George Washington conducting tests only 60 miles off Long Island, the Navy disclosed Friday.

It made public a photograph of the Soviet ship, taken from a blimp on Tuesday, as the trawler cruised within a mile of where the submarine was testing out its missile launching equipment.

The trawler was identified by the Navy as the Vega. The picture indicated the Russian ship is about 225 feet long and that it carries radar. Presumably the Vega, like most big trawlers, is also equipped with sonar, the underwater sound detection apparatus useful for spotting fish—or submarines.

Observed Off Norfolk

The Vega, after leaving the test scene 60 miles south of Long Island, later was observed off Norfolk, Va. Norfolk is the home base for most of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet.

Since the testing site off Long Island is in international waters, the Soviet craft had every legal right to be there. The George Washington, the first of the fleet ballistic missile submarines, was test firing dummy slugs. These slugs are ejected from the launching tube and come out to the surface but do not go into the air.

Presumably a sonar listening device could give some indication of the timing of shots. It also would pick up the characteristic sound of a certain type of submarine, in this case the new George Washington.

The photograph made public Friday was taken from a Navy blimp operating out of Lakehurst, N.J., which was on patrol when the Russian trawler was sighted.

Operations Continue

The submarine, which was accompanied by the Navy tug Nipmuc and the submarine rescue ship Sunbird, continued to operate despite the presence of the Russian ship.

A Navy spokesman said no attempt was made by the U.S. vessels to interfere with the Vega.

In February, 1959, a party from a U.S. destroyer boarded a Russian trawler off Newfoundland following a series of breaks in trans-Atlantic cables which might have been caused by the trawling gear of the Russian ship cutting the cables. This boarding action, to confer with the trawler's crew, was taken under a provision of the international agreement for the protection of submarine cables.

Raiders Jump Into Paraguay

Asuncion, Paraguay (AP)—Armed invaders seeking to overthrow President Gen. Alfredo Stroessner landed in southeastern Paraguay Friday, the interior ministry announced. (The invaders apparently are Paraguayan political exiles.)

A communique said one landing force, reported to number about 500 men, was turned back when it attacked the town of Puerto Carlos Antonio Lopez on the Parana river, but another column of about 50 men was reported here to have captured the smaller town of Colonia Otano, about 10 miles away.

Colonia Otano was defended by only 5 policemen, the report said.

The interior ministry said these invaders came from Argentina's Misiones province.

Brazil As Well

(Paraguayan sources in Argentina said several columns launched invasions from Brazil as well as Argentina. Military sources in Buenos Aires said the rebellion appeared to be on a bigger scale than that last Dec. 12 when a rebel force of about 1,000 was quickly defeated.)

The interior ministry said the attack on Puerto Carlos Antonio Lopez was defeated by the local garrison.

It added that the invaders suffered casualties but gave no figures.

The government is vigorously suppressing the invasion, it added.

—WEST VIRGINIA—

Truce Over, Slugfest On

Charleston, W.Va. (AP)—The cautious truce is over, and the slugfest is on.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) Friday night said Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) "has distorted my record, attacked my integrity and played fast and loose with smears and innuendos."

"I do not intend to reply in kind," Kennedy said in a statement handed out by a shirt-sleeved perspiring brother, Robert Kennedy, "because no Democrat is ever going to win in 1960 by imitating (Vice President) Richard Nixon."

"But I do not intend to take this kind of abuse indefinitely. Because there is one fact about Hubert Humphrey that everyone agrees on—every politician, every Washington correspondent, every Gallup poll and all the rest—that is the single fact that Hubert Humphrey cannot be nominated.

Candidates And Contests

The Conrad-Morrison race for the Democratic nomination for governor takes the spotlight as Star Staff Member Don Walton writes the last in a series of articles on the May 10 primary election.

AF Hospital Inquiry Set

... 'UNFAIR TO LAFB'—WEAVER

Washington (AP)—Rep. Weaver said Friday a House appropriations subcommittee plans to investigate reported Air Force plans for a new hospital at Offutt Air Force Base.

He charged that a game of "high powered intra-Air Force politics" is back of the move. Weaver said he understood the Strategic Air Command, with headquarters at Offutt, plans to seek congressional authorization for a new 100 to 200-bed hospital there in the military construction bill for the year beginning July 1, 1961.

"This game of high powered intra-Air Force politics may cost the Lincoln Air Force Base an adequate hospital for which need has been proven time and again," Weaver said. "Some one in SAC headquarters at Offutt is intent on building up that base even if it means discriminating against the people of Lincoln, for whom the Air Force is equally responsible."

Weaver said he has already talked with other members of the House subcommittee on military construction. The group must approve any new building funds.

"I have been assured the subcommittee is planning an inquiry on the scene," Weaver said. "I expect hearings will be held at both Lincoln and Offutt. The subcommittee is not interested in spending tax dollars in a wasteful manner."

"It is my understanding that the Air Force plans to tear down a perfectly good hospital at Offutt and replace it with a costly new hospital, perhaps built underground. The Air Force plans to throw Lincoln in a lot in the form of a 25-bed dispensary."

A 100-bed hospital presently is authorized for Lincoln Air Force Base but no funds have been appropriated for its construction. Weaver said he understood this authorization would be cut back to a dispensary by the SAC plan.

"The Air Force apparently is proceeding on the theory that nobody in Congress knows the score," Weaver said. "I can assure the brass that we do. This effort to slip over a fast deal will not go unchallenged. The authorization for a new hospital at Offutt will have a long, rocky course through Congress."

$40,000 Study Of Downtown Slated

By Virgil Falloon

A $40,000 planning study to develop "a total program for downtown Lincoln development" was launched Friday by the Downtown Development Council of Lincoln.

John Lawlor, DDL president, announced that Barton-Aschman & Associates, a Chicago firm specializing in downtown planning and traffic, will make the study requiring some 9 months with work beginning immediately.

While the Centennial downtown mall was a success, Lawlor said the DDL proceeded slowly and deliberately in reaching a unanimous decision to proceed "with a total plan for the whole downtown complex."

He said the downtown plan would be correlated with City Comprehensive Plan developed by Harland Bartholomew & Associates and currently being revised for the city and Lancaster County into a metropolitan area plan by the St. Louis planning firm.

When finished, Lawlor said, "the downtown plan can be dropped right into place with the overall city-country plan."

DDL plans were announced at a luncheon meeting for its membership and attended by City Council members and other city officials.

Outlining the aims of the proposed downtown study, Frederick T. Aschman of Barton-Aschman said "there is a national awakening to the importance of the downtown area," which "is not on its way out except through neglect."

Colorado Crops Hard Hit By Cold

TOWNS BURIED ... UNDER SNOW

By United Press International
A 6 million dollar storm ruined crops and buried towns under up to 14 inches of snow in Rocky Mountain states Friday and the death count rose to 6 in the tornado-raked southern plains.
The weather outbursts in the nation's West pushed snow from Wyoming, Montana, Colorado and New Mexico into western Nebraska and South Dakota. The Texas communities of Lockhart and Giddings were pummeled by half-foot rains in a matter of 4 hours.
Central Oklahoma and Kansas communities counted mounting losses in property and life in the wake of dead-of-night tornadoes.
Three persons were killed by Oklahoma twisters which smashed 5 communities late Thursday night and early Friday. Three more deaths by heart attacks were blamed on the storm.
Damage was estimated at more than 2 million dollars in Oklahoma City alone.

2 Polaris Successes

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (P)—The Navy Friday night successfully launched two polaris submarine missiles in 4 hours.
Announcements reported that both the 28-foot, solid-fuel rockets performed perfectly as they streaked more than 1,000 miles down the Atlantic missile range. Just 4 days ago, another Polaris scored a success over the same route.

STUDY OF DOWNTOWN DEVELOPMENT EYED

town area except the ability (largely through common ownership) to act as a group," Aschman said. "on the other hand, the downtown has the singular advantage of its multi-purpose complex."

Overall Guide

Aschman said the study for a "total program" approach would serve as an overall guide for long-range downtown planning and development for the immediate improvement of the downtown area.

He said the program would include these major areas of study and planning:

—planned relationship of private and public buildings for organization, compactness and beauty.

—a total traffic plan for vehicle access to the downtown area, its internal movement and parking.

—pedestrian movement as the "retail shopping area must be given back to the pedestrian."

Beautification

—beautification standards for the downtown area, including open spaces, sign control, land use and minimum building standards.

—economic study of the downtown area and projected through 1980.

—promotion of new enterprises and delineation of areas for urban redevelopment.

—physical relationship of the state capital area and University of Nebraska campus to the central business district.

—mass transit in the downtown area, parking garages and areas, and shopping malls or plazas.

Co-Ordinator

Lawlor said that L. A. Enersen, a Lincoln architect, has also been retained as "co-ordinator of the downtown program" and would act as liaison officer between Barton - Aschman, Bartholomew & Associates, and the City-County Planning Commission.

It was also announced that the DDL would become a division of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, but would "raise its own funds for the downtown study."

Nearly 75 persons attended the DDL meeting. Its membership heartily endorsed the proposed study.

Mayor Boyles said that the city would co-operate with the DDL in its study and commended the group for its approach.

EX-LINCOLN LIBRARIAN DEAD AT 61

Word has been received in Lincoln of the death of former Lincoln city librarian, Magnus Kristoffersen, 61, in Hartford, Conn.

Mr. Kristoffersen, who was chief librarian of the Hartford public libraries, had been hospitalized for 3 weeks before his death in a Hartford hospital. Private services were held in West Hartford.

His illness forced him to cancel earlier this month a trip to Iceland, Norway, Sweden and his birthplace, Denmark, under the auspices of the State Department's international educational exchange program.

Born in Denmark

He was born in Holstebro, Denmark, and received his education in that country before coming to the U.S. in 1924. He served as head librarian at a branch library in Detroit before coming to Lincoln in 1938 as assistant Librarian.

He was appointed city librarian in 1938, and served until moving to Hartford as head librarian in 1944.

He had served as president of the Nebraska Library Assn.

Eradication Of Polio To Be Fun?

By Roger Wait
"Eradication of polio" throughout the population by taking cherry-flavored liquid by mouth "might be accomplished" in the near future.

Dr. Henry Bauer of Minneapolis said in Lincoln Friday.

Director of the Minnesota health department's medical laboratories division, he told the Nebraska Society of Medical Technologists about extensive studies on effects of the Lederle-

Cox polio vaccine on millions of people.

Preliminary studies, Dr. Bauer emphasized, "have convinced us the vaccine is safe."

A Combination

He said the new vaccine (a combination of three strains of polio-immunizing viruses) has advantages over "killed-virus" vaccine because it can be taken orally in liquid form, not in a series of 3 or 4 shots.

"Killed-virus" vaccine creates immunity in the blood, he explained, but the new type vaccine, effecting body cells and tissues, employs weakened live viruses which can spread from person to person.

Thereby, he said, all people eventually could acquire greater resistance to polio epidemics.

To date, he added, 25,000 Minnesotans, 300,000 Floridians and millions in South America and Europe have received the vaccine orally without ill effect.

Chessman's Bid Denied

San Francisco (P)—The California supreme court Friday—for the 3rd time—rejected a petition for clemency for death row author Caryl Chessman, whose 9th date with death is set for 10 a.m. Monday.

The vote was 4 to 3—the same as that in which the court previously rejected the clemency plea.

The court said the action "is final and forthwith, banning any rehearing of the petition."

Curiosity Won't Kill Us

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Curiosity may have killed the cat but it isn't likely to do it to the human race. It may place us in an embarrassing position now and then but it can also lead us into new avenues of achievement. This is somewhat the way those officially connected with the nation's space program look upon their work.

As most of these officials will tell you, there is no answer right now as to what we will gain by exploration of outer space or other planets.

The Inquiring Mind

R. A. Fitzgerald of McDonnell Aircraft Corporation explained in Lincoln this week that we carry out these explorations much in the same way men have tried to climb Mt. Everest — because it is there. Perhaps the most feasible explanation can be found in the medical profession where progress has been made almost entirely on the satisfaction of someone's inquisitive nature — why things are as they are. In short, you might say that exploration of outer space is finding out what makes creation tick.

And only in finding this out are we able to deal adequately with the problems which confront us. Scientists are naturally reluctant to make predictions or to mention possibilities from exploration but your own imagination could pretty well be your guide in this matter.

There are those who are fully convinced that there are forms of life on some other planets and many who believe that there is life in space very much similar to our own. This does not mean the same kind of social or material structure, necessarily, but perhaps the same kind of physical beings.

There can be no question that it will cost a great deal of money to probe the remote areas of the universe and that many of these probes will be completely fruitless in their production of any direct benefits. But the possibility of one single success is the thing which motivates us. It is our thirst for new knowledge and greater understanding which sends us delving into the unknown. Our behavior, of course, is patterned after history and we no doubt act in many instances without even a conscious knowledge of why we are doing it.

Institutional Changes

A study committee of the Legislature has recently received a great deal of testimony from state officials in regard to the operations surrounding various state institutions. One of the most important considerations of the committee is the overall institutional organization—the Board of Control.

The board came in for unanimous criticism from both Gov. Ralph Brooks and Attorney Gen. C. S. Beck. Perhaps the two gentlemen are right and they should certainly have a good knowledge of the situation, particularly Mr. Beck who has worked with the institutions for many years. But the Legislature should look for concrete evidence when it considers this problem.

The board should not be abolished as a formality because some people say it leads to inefficiency and fails to fix responsibility. There have to be some practical examples of this and then some logic to support the

But it really is not at all peculiar that we would pursue something so remote as outer space when we consider the roads we have traveled in the past. When European explorers first crossed the waters to the new world, they had no knowledge whatsoever of what they would find. They were simply driven by a consuming passion to find the truth and the reality of the world they lived in.

When our own nation was settled, it was not done by people who feared the unknown, but rather, by people who were challenged by it and encouraged by the mere thought of a finer and fuller life. Space explorations of the next decade or so may well provide us with a storehouse of information that could completely change our way of life.

There could be influences upon life on other planets which might completely dwarfed us. Many of these influences could be things over which we could exercise some control on our own planet. There could be influences, too, in the atmosphere upon our planet — influences which, if properly controlled, could make a substantial contribution to our existence.

All of our entire environmental conditions are open to re-examination and evaluation through the exploration of other areas of the universe. Much of our environment we have learned to control.

parts of it we have not learned to control and perhaps a great deal of it we have too little knowledge of to be aware of any need for control. Atmospheric conditions which we accept as of either no consequence or beyond our control might be shown in the future to be extremely significant and well within our capacity to regulate or change.

These things are all apart from whatever military advantages there may be in discovering the complexities of the entire universe. These are all very real and human considerations and in the minds of many scientists fully within the realm of sound reasoning and logic. To demand a factual answer to the reason for a space program is like demanding of a fifth grader the answer to a problem in addition without giving him the figures to be totaled up.

Demo Fight Is In Alabama

WASHINGTON—The most important election campaign right now is not in West Virginia or Maryland or any of the other states getting the national spotlight. It is in Alabama, where Democrats are running against Democrats in one of the bitterest and most unusual battles of 1960.

The battle is over choice of Alabama's electors who will go to Washington after the November election and supposedly ratify the November results in the electoral college. Normally the electoral college vote is mere routine. However the Dixiecrat plan is to elect electors who will withhold their electoral college vote from any Democratic candidate for President next November unless he's a Dixiecrat.

Regardless of how the popular vote goes, the Dixiecrat plan is to send electors to the electoral college who will vote against Stevenson, Kennedy, Lyndon Johnson, Humphrey, Brown or Meyner.

This is how Alabama votes next November will be decided, not in November, but next Tuesday, May 3.

Ordinarily, voters pay no attention to who the state electors are. Ordinarily, the big question below the Mason-Dixon line is the choice of Democratic delegates to the national convention. But this year it's different.

Here is how this bitter, out-for-blood battle is lining up:

The Ku Klux Klan—has put 11 electors on the ballot, all pledged either to vote Republican or abstain from voting next November.

The Dixon slate—Frank M. Dixon, a one-term governor 20 years ago, has put 11 delegates into the race, also pledged to vote against the regular Democrats — unless it's someone like Harry Byrd or Strom Thurmond.

The loyal Democrats—are led by Senators Hill and Sparkman, Gov. John Patterson, Speaker Charles Adams of the Alabama house of representatives, with five of the state's eight congressmen. They too have a slate of 11 electors, all pledged to support the Democratic candidate for president no matter who is nominated at Los Angeles.

How important is the question of electors is indicated by the fact that 56 electoral candidates are now running for what has been considered an empty honor.

Frank Dixon, leader of the Dixiecrats, retired from the governor's mansion to become a corporation lawyer and lead Alabama's so-called "Big Mules." It's doubtful that he has voted the Democratic ticket since 1939 when he was elected governor.

Penn Primaries Change The Picture

WASHINGTON—Vice-President Richard Nixon's strong showing in the Pennsylvania primary does more than shore up his political prestige. His near-million votes are a sudden chill on Democratic hopes of recouping the party's setbacks in the big Keystone state.

New party registration figures in Pennsylvania recently showed Democratic voters were lagging only a little behind Republicans in total numbers. This was an astonishing reversal of form from only two years before. Gov. David Lawrence began more than ever to appear a potential kingmaker at Los Angeles, able perhaps to deliver a big bloc of delegates to his convention candidate, and very possibly his state in the election.

The large write-in vote for Sen. John Kennedy also affects the convention picture and Lawrence's role in it. A Catholic himself, Lawrence has displayed a personal preference for Adlai Stevenson and arranged to take an uncommitted delegation west with him.

The governor will still do that; there is nothing binding about the Pennsylvania presidential primary. But he will have to take note of the fact that Kennedy swamped his competitors and aroused about 180,000 voters sufficiently to write his name on a ballot. This bloc can be expected to be vocal about its favorite when the wheeling and dealing begins.

There are some circumstances which mitigate the impact of the victory headlines. The vice-president's name was printed on the ballots and there had been a drive to get out the vote for him and so remove the sting of his Wisconsin showing.

Democrats were in similarly positive ways actually discouraged from recording presidential preferences. The small size of their totals indicates that the party organization was responsive to this strategy. But while this minimizes the gap between the Nixon vote and Kennedy's, it makes Kennedy's feat the more impressive.

Still it is always better to come out first in any situation and by nice big round numbers.

Nixon, in turn, has avoided that slight smell of defeat which immediately begins a reassessment of his November chances.

While West Virginia is possibly close by enough to re-echo something of the Pennsylvania sentiment, most observers there feel that the troubled mountain state will vote its own interests as it sees them May 10. The tension there is now a little greater, that's all.

What Washington is really waiting for is the LBJ show which has been wowing the West. Texas has bought by far the biggest number of tables for the Democratic congressional campaign dinner here Saturday night—22 at last count and still going strong. This means upward of 260 Texas voices raised on songs and shouts for the Senate majority leader who has still not admitted that he is a candidate.

The purpose is plain, however, and emphasized by the fact that the Democratic nomination in Texas is virtually tantamount to election.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

I Look To Thee In Every Need

I look to Thee in every need,
And never look in vain;
I feel Thy strong and tender love,
And all is well again:
The thought of Thee is mightier far
Than sin and pain and sorrow are.

Thy calmness bends serene above,
My restlessness to still;
Around me flows Thy quickening life
To nerve my faltering will:
Thy presence fills my solitude;
Thy providence turns all to good.

Embosomed deep in Thy dear love,
Held in Thy law I stand;
Thy hand in all things I behold,
And all things in Thy hand;
Thou leadest me by unsought ways,
And turn'st my mourning into praise.

By HORACE B. POWELL

It has been sung by several generations of Christian worshippers since it appeared early in the second half of the nineteenth century. Its verses were penned in 1864 by the Rev. Samuel Longfellow, a brother of the distinguished poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, and its music is an old German hymn melody dating back to 1741.

The Rev. Mr. Longfellow, a Unitarian minister, was born in Portland, Maine on June 18, 1819. He was graduated from Harvard University in 1839 and from the Divinity School at Cambridge, seven years later. His first pastorate was at Fall River, Massachusetts. In 1853 he was installed as minister of the Second Unitarian Church in Brooklyn, New York where he served until 1860. He died at Portland in 1892.

County Hospital

Lincoln, Neb.

There appears to be general agreement on the need for a convalescent hospital unit, such as the one to be voted on at the May 10 primary. With reference to this particular proposal, however, two points should be made clear to the public. The first is that the proposed unit will not be available for general community use but will be for the use of indigent or charity patients only. The second, if my understanding is correct, that a hospital unit which is of limited use rather than community-wide use is not eligible for federal (Hill-Burton) funds.

Thus, despite assertions to the contrary, there is room for difference of opinion regarding this proposal. Some people do not like the kind of discrimination shown in limiting the unit to charity cases, and so branding all who make use of it, while denying its facilities to the general public. And statements to the effect that 40 per cent of the cost will be paid from federal funds and that application for federal aid will be made if the proposal carries are disingenuous if not misleading, for the question of the availability of federal aid can be answered in advance, and the answer is "no."

JOHN B. WHITE

Editor's Note: Everything the writer says in his first paragraph is correct but his interpretations and conclusions in the second paragraph are subject to dispute. Regulations on Hill-Burton funds require recipient institutions to provide "community service" which means community-wide service. But the regulations also stipulate four special areas of limited purpose which are considered to meet the "community service" requirement. These four permitted limitations are institutions with limitations applying to "age, medical indigency or medical or mental disability."

Thus, funds can be obtained for units aimed only at care of the indigent so long as it includes all the indigent of the community which is the case with the county's convalescent care hospital. Thus, the advance answer to the availability and the likelihood of federal aid funds for this project is "yes."

As to discrimination, it is simply the intention of the county to solve one part of a current social problem—hospital or medical care for people who cannot afford it. The fact that it may not solve the entire problem as everyone might see it seems to be a weak point of opposition. It is a little like the halo being better than no bread at all. To provide general convalescent care to the entire city would put the county into the hospital business on a large scale, something it has neither the ability nor responsibility for.

Also, current moves by general hospitals toward the progressive patient care concept are expected to meet some part of the demand for convalescent care facilities.

Against Parks

Lincoln, Neb.

In regard to the proposed park developments, if Lincoln had an unlimited amount of money, the elaborate park plans would be lovely. But considering other very real needs of the city puts the park development plan in the luxury class. Nice, but not essential. First things first. The frills must wait until the necessities are met. Streets, storm sewers and flood control are often the difference between life and death and surely should be adequately taken care of before we spend $3.5 million on a luxury program.

Besides, a realistic look at neighborhood playgrounds now available will show that all we need is for intra-governmental groups to co-operate. The taxpayers have paid huge amounts for new schools. There are a school and playground accessible in every neighborhood. There are even swimming pools (granted, they are indoors, but they are lovely pools) that are closed all summer. To whom do they belong? I submit that we, the taxpayers, paid for them.

Now, couldn't the school board, the city recreation department and the Park Department get together and plan a wonderful summer program right in the school gym and on the school playgrounds? Why should the taxpayers provide new recreation areas and allow the school facilities to stand idle?

Families are larger these days, so Mother has three or four children to look after. Is it really easier and more pleasant to pile them into the car and go to the park to look after them, or look out the kitchen window as they play in the back yard? A cook-out in the yard is surely less work for Mother and can be made as much fun for the children.

But if for a treat the family wants to go on a bonafide picnic, a trek out to Pioneers or to Oak Lake would surely be more fun than to go to a small neighborhood park.

So why not utilize the school facilities extensively and build up both Pioneers and Oak Lake?

Who dreams up these beautiful plans? Nebraskans are realistic, practical folk and we know we must provide meat and potatoes for our children and we will give them dessert only as we are able.

TAXPAYER

Red Herring

Hastings, Neb.

With Sen. Curtis's "Washington Letter" to his constituents presumably in hand, Mrs. Earl Kelley rushes to his defense. That letter came from his Washington office, no doubt. It helped create the deficit in the U.S. Post Office Department through its free mailing privilege. It also permits Curtis to drag a red herring across his trail, throwing all trailers off his tracks as Mrs. Kelley has been thrown. The President is now crowding Congress to increase the first-class postage rate 20 per cent to pay for the loss to the department such raids have permitted.

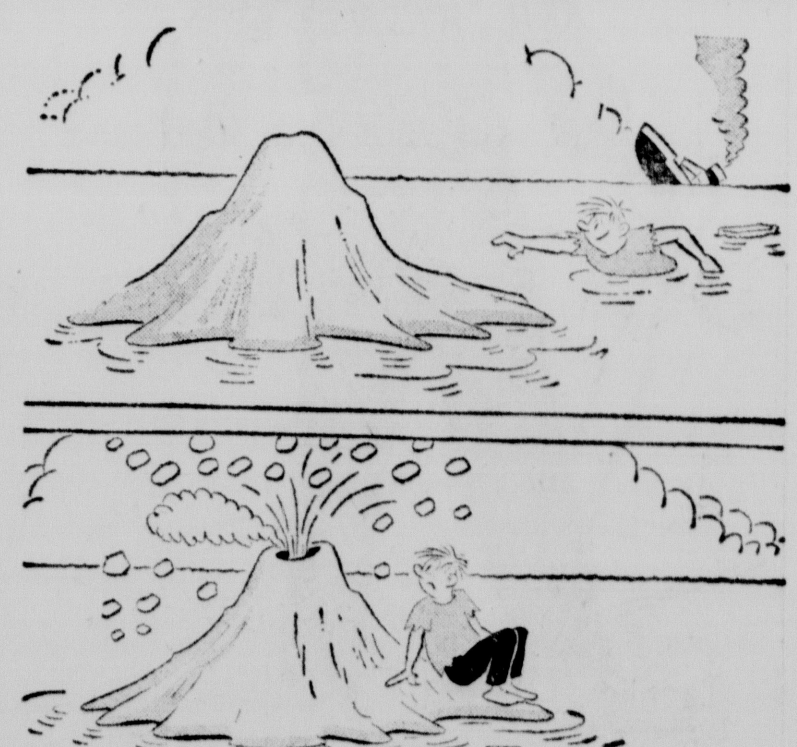

The Morse bill before the Senate is an unemployment measure for the unemployed of the District of Columbia, made so by the Eisenhower administration. But there is another unemployment measure already on the federal statutes that beats the Morse bill a mile in its provisions. It will be available to Curtis for his unemployment after the November election. It is known as a congressman's pension.

I must also pay my respects to State Sen. John Cooper. In the matter of the recount of ballots after the last state election, presumably he said, as did Victor Anderson, that the election boards of the state officiated "sloppily." The time is close at hand for those boards to show their resentment of the candidacy of John Cooper.

'Ousting Of Intangible Tax Would Be Blow To Lincoln'

By Virgil Faloon

Lincoln's municipal financial structure would be seriously damaged by the proposed Nebraska constitutional amendment eliminating the intangible property tax, City Finance Director James Mallon said Friday.

In a report to Mayor Pat Boyles, Mallon said the proposal "does considerable violence to the city's finances in two ways."

First, the measure, now in petition stages for a November election vote, would mean an intangible tax loss of $235,000 to the city and approximately $50,000 from personal property.

Secondly and more important, elimination of the intangible tax valuation would lower the city's tax levy limit provided by city charter formula for a loss of another $561,945.

Would Eliminate

The constitutional amendment petition, aimed at broadening the tax base, would substitute an income and sales tax at the state level for property taxes, and would eliminate the intangible tax at both state and local levels.

Mayor Boyles and Mallon said the report was not intended to be critical of a broadened tax base or the merits of sales and income tax, but only dealt with the effects of this petition proposal upon city financial structure.

If the proposed amendment were adopted, Mallon said the City of Lincoln would have to immediately amend its charter to remove or greatly increase the formula which limits the amount of money the city can raise by taxation on property.

Otherwise

Otherwise, Mallon pointed out, the state amendment would force the city to reduce its appropriations for such functions as police, fire, health, parks, street maintenance, storm sewers and judicial and general government.

For the 1959-60 budget, the city levied $2,193,618 on real and personal property. This amount was well below the charter limit of $3,631,394 as based on a formula taking into account both tangible and intangible property valuations.

If the amendment had been in effect, the city tax limit would have been $1,631,673 on property or $561,945 less than determined to be needed by the City Council for municipal functions and improvements.

CANDIDATES BELT TAX PROPOSAL

"This effort again spotlights the necessity for a constitutional convention," Conrad said "as well as the restrictive influence of the amendment on this subject adopted in 1954.

"Property tax relief at the state level is not the major item of concern. It is our schools, our cities, and, in part, our county governments which spend the greatest portion of our tax dollar and render the greatest degree of governmental service where property tax relief should receive consideration," Conrad said.

more serious, is the fact that the Lincoln city charter places a ceiling of 9 1/2 mills on the property levy," Morrison said.

"Even if we pushed the levy up to the legal limit, Lincoln would still not be able to operate its government under the maximum levy," he said.

Morrison said he is "unalterably opposed to any increase in property taxes or amendment to the Lincoln city charter to permit increased property levies."

Know All Problems

He added that while he is "in favor of the people being given an opportunity to vote on a tax program, they should be careful to know all of the problems posed by the petitions being circulated."

Gov. Brooks said the "place we need tax relief is in the school districts — the school district taxes in this state are what are killing the people."

He cited the inequality which exists when you have two school districts with the same obligations and same number of pupils, but one district has a valuation of $2 million and the other has a $75,000 valuation.

Raises Question

Another candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Frank Morrison, raised this question on the proposal to "abolish tax on intangible property."

If the amendment is passed, Morrison said it would "cause a financial crisis in home rule cities such as Lincoln and Omaha."

"Lincoln will receive $250,000 from tax on intangibles this year. An abolition of this tax as proposed by the sales tax group under the petitions being circulated would mean an increase in the property tax levy in Lincoln, but even

WHELAN HITS WEAVER STAND ON WAR VETS

Tecumseh — Gerald T. Whelan of Hastings, candidate for the Democratic nomination for First District Congress, Friday criticized Rep. Phil Weaver's attitude toward war veterans.

Whelan charged the Republican incumbent with "being around to take the bows when the government builds a new Veterans Administration building while ignoring legitimate requests and problems of individual veterans."

In remarks prepared for a Democratic breakfast rally, Whelan said Weaver "has a consistent record of passing over veterans and disabled veterans to fill post office vacancies with political favorites."

93.3% In First

About 93.3% of the population enumeration in the First Congressional District had been completed by Friday, Miss Anna Evans, supervisor, reported.

She said many of the crew leaders had completed their areas.

Delay OK'd In Highway Suit

Lancaster District Judge Harry A. Spencer Friday granted a delay in the scheduled start of a highway wage suit brought by former State Sen. Lester Anderson against the state.

The trial had been set to start May 2, but Lincoln Atty. Joseph Ginsburg, special assistant attorney general, had asked a postponement because an Omaha attorney representing two labor unions involved in the case is hospitalized.

No new trial date was set. Anderson alleges in his petition that the state has set excessive minimum wage rates on highway construction projects in Douglas County.

WEST VA. 'OUTRAGED': Blasts NBC Shows For 'Rigging' Reports

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Cecil H. Underwood Friday told the National Broadcasting Co. the citizens of West Virginia were outraged by what he called its "rigged" television report of conditions in the state and demanded that any further such programming be cancelled.

Underwood sent the telegraphed protest to Robert Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corp. of America; Robert Kintner, president of NBC-TV; Augustus C. Long, board chairman, and J. W. Foley, president, of the Texas Co., sponsor of the program, and Frederick Ford, Federal Communications Commission chairman.

The telegram said:

"The nearly two million respectable, educated and hard-working citizens of West Virginia are outraged by the rigged national television broadcast emanating from our coal fields and presented by your newsmen David Brinkley.

"As governor of W. Va. I demand that any further programming of these broadcasts be canceled. Brinkley, his staff and crew are guilty of the most flagrant distortion in both the audio and video portions of these newscasts.

Tactics 'Known'

"Brinkley's tactics in securing material for these broadcasts and deliberate coloring of the news is common knowledge among the press corps assembled here in Charleston and has received public attention from a local columnist. Brinkley's presence in West Virginia under these circumstances is obnoxious to all decent citizens of this state."

Depict Conditions

The program, "The Huntley-Brinkley report," has been televising a series to depict economic conditions in West Virginia.

The state's economic situation has received wide publicity within the past several weeks during the current primary presidential election campaigns of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn).

Told about the telegram in Washington, Brinkley protested that nothing had been rigged for the programs.

"All the pictures were made in West Virginia," he said. "All were truthful and factual. Everything we said and photographed is truth."

Asked what he thought Underwood meant by "the most flagrant distortion in both the audio and video portions of these newscasts," Brinkley answered, "I have not the faintest idea."

EMPHASIS ON COLLEGE UP—COLON SAYS

Are Nebraska high school students placing a greater emphasis on the value of a college degree?

Apparently so, a Nebraska Wesleyan University official said today.

"Applications for new student admission to Wesleyan are running 30% ahead of a year ago," Admissions Counselor Vicente A. Colon said.

"And a year ago Wesleyan experienced a record enrollment, both in terms of total enrollment and the number of freshmen," he added.

Colon said 388 students have applied at Wesleyan this year. A year ago at this time, the figure stood at 290.

Railroad Tax Valuation Due To Start Over

The annual process of setting tax valuations for Nebraska's railroads, which ended just 6 weeks ago for the 1958 tax year, will start all over again Monday.

Forrest A. Johnson, state tax commissioner, said the railroads will appear before the State Board of Equalization Monday to present their exhibits and arguments on property held during 1959.

Reports To Consolidate Still Coming ... Cooper Claims

State Sen. John Cooper of Humboldt, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, said Friday his headquarters "continues to receive reports" of voters trying to consolidate the vote behind him.

"These voters are not party leaders," Cooper said in a statement released in Lincoln. "They are voters who recognize good qualities in most of the Republican candidates, but have decided to consolidate behind one person to insure positive results in the election."

They do not wish to see a split of the vote result in the election of "an incompetent person," he said.

Warehousemen Charge Politics ... BOLT USDA TALKS

Grain industry representatives withdrew Friday from the 5th meeting in Washington to negotiate a new Uniform Grain Storage Agreement with the United States Department of Agriculture.

As industry representatives walked out of the meeting they issued the following statement, "We cannot accept in good conscience the proposal put forth by the Department."

Telegrams sent to congressmen from elevator operators across the nation read, "We request that the present storage agreements be maintained for one year and that the issue of storage costs be decided on an economic basis rather than on election year politics."

18 Representatives

The 18 men who represented the terminals, co-op elevators and country storage that withdrew from the negotiations further stated:

"The proposed terms and conditions in the new 1960-61 contract increase the responsibility of warehousemen approximately 25%, it couples this with the reduction in rates ranging from 12 to 50% for services of conditioning, handling and storing of CCC grain and oil seeds.

This comes at a time of increased costs and means that the rates will not be fair and compensatory for the overwhelming majority of some 11,000 warehousemen."

Objected

Grain representatives have also objected to Food and Drug proposals that would make the elevator operator responsible for conditions in grain which they say are beyond their control.

In an effort to secure insurance against loss by Food and Drug requirements, the industry was informed by Lloyd's of London, internationally known insurance firm, that the rate would be 33% and that they would only assume 60% coverage on the amount of wheat in the elevator.

The USDA has rejected the following proposal of the grain industry:

"Subject to satisfactory settlement of the sections relative to Food and Drug we propose the schedule of states be continued for one year, the same as the 1956 schedule except."

A Bowl Of Goodies Chalks Up Big Bill

By Arthur Everett

New York (AP)—Life was just a bowl of goodies for Charles Gregory Cannon, a debonair dandy of a man. Bad checks and counterfeit credit cards were a magic wand that brought him the luxuries he savored—fine clothes, gourmet foods, sleek limousines, gracious hotel living.

Today, alas, in federal district court, they handed him the bill—7½ years in prison.

Cannon's displeasure was manifest. Adjusting his pince-nez eye-glasses, he chided sentencing Judge Charles M. Metzger in aggrieved tones:

"These activities were basically to support myself while trying to obtain employment suitable for me. I am not a laborer."

Cannon's quest for suitable employment has been sporadic, interrupted by prison stretches that have consumed about 9 of his last 11 years. But between terms, his was a full and satisfying life.

Last November, Cannon broke out of jail in Miami, where the state had installed him as its guest for a year for using a fake credit card.

Do-It-Yourself

Off again in pursuit of a suitable station in life, the 35-year-old Cannon equipped himself with such do-it-yourself devices as a printing press, check-writing machine, engraving tools and other sundry aids to the production of bad checks and counterfeit credit cards.

Thus arrayed, Cannon roamed from Florida to Canada. What his credit cards couldn't provide, his phony checks did. His exquisite tastes ran to the $10,000 a month level.

Not a man to hoard his pride of achievement, Cannon once phoned a credit card company and offered them a modest wage—payable, presumably, by check. He would fake one of their cards and use it without detection for at least 3 months.

No Sport

The credit representative—no sport, he—declined to bet.

But all good things seem destined to come to an end. Cannon's came last March 17 in a $45 a day suite at the Hotel Beverly, in the discreet 50's of Manhattan. The FBI dropped in. Flicking a speck of lint from the lapel of his immaculate blue jacket, Cannon went along quietly, as a gentleman should.

Eventually, he pleaded guilty here to forgery in the amount of $35,000. It was that or be returned to Florida—and this is hardly the season for Florida.

By way of extenuation, before he was led away, Cannon informed Judge Metzger with quiet hauteur:

"I am afraid I am at a loss for words... I ask you to take into account that I never used violence in my activities."

Campaign Too Rough

Quito, Ecuador (AP)—Representatives of Ecuador's 4 presidential candidates in the June 5 elections signed a peace pact to prevent campaign violence which thus far has cost 11 lives. The agreement calls for a ban on inciting violence.

State High Court Upholds Speeding Conviction

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday upheld the Platte County District Court conviction of Frank H. Kucera for speeding.

Last June 21, Kucera was ticketed for speeding 72 miles an hour at night through a Safety Patrol radar trap.

The complaint was filed before the Platte County justice court and a jury found Kucera guilty. He was fined $31 and he appealed to district court.

A district court jury also found him guilty and the court set the fine at $35 and costs. Kucera appealed to the supreme court.

The supreme court said there was no prejudicial error in the record and affirmed the decision.

The supreme court reversed and ordered dismissed a case involving the Oliver C. McVey estate.

John M. Creamer, executor, appealed an allowance of a claim by Keith County against the estate amounting to $6,067 for the maintenance of a son, Edward H. McVey, who was committed to the Hastings State Hospital.

The claim had been allowed by both the county and Keith County District Court. The supreme court reversed the district court and ordered the case dismissed.

The Cedar County District Court was affirmed in a case brought by John Jones, Lawine Casey, Leona Adair, Lowell Jones, Margaret Day, Shirley Jones and Ogar Jones against Henry Schmidt and Agnes Schmidt to have quieted in them title to land in Cedar County. The district court ruled for Schmidt.

HEAR THESE WORDS

...from an old Guide Book. It says we are travelers on the way. And since we pass this way but once, we want good directions.

Through the centuries, long lines of tall, serious-thinking men have cried, "Which way shall I take?"

Well, here is a man who found it. Then, won't you hear the challenge? It says that ultimately men want the rewards of one who walks a straight and narrow path, but few there be that earn them. It speaks to all,

"Keep My Commandments,"

but few there be that keep them.

No one questions the brevity of this book's directions. Its commands come with all the authority of Heaven and earth, from God to man...

to you. Centuries of human experience declare its words to be true. Your own soul recognizes the importance of its teachings. Then why not accept its challenge? Make all this a personal matter.

NEWS OF SERVICE CIRCLES

BY SYBIL WEBBER
Heralding the opening of the social season at the base will be Sunday evening's affair at the Officers Club when members of the military entertain civilian guests from the city of Lincoln, between 5 and 8 p.m.

... then there's a party Saturday night at the Officers Club that the 818th Air Division has calendared.

... and, of course, lots of air base suburbanites will be heading for the Inter-Com

Club's soiree this week end, too.
... reversing our props to last week end, we understand Capt. and Mrs. John Parker hosted a canape party for 14 guests before the 307th Wing gathering at the club.

... Capt. and Mrs. Clayton Scott were also hosts with a before-the-dance party. Eighteen guests were asked to stop by their quarters on Michael.

... our visitor's book records that Lt. Col. and Mrs. Joe V. Disana have guests at their quarters on Castle Drive. They include Col. Disana's mother, Mrs. Joe Disana, and his sister, Miss Anne Disana. Both are from Maplewood, Mo., and they expect to remain here for about 10 days.

... heard that Col. and Mrs. Earl Batten have returned from an enjoyable leave ... spent in Florida, I believe.

... talked with an old friend and learned that T. Sgt. and Mrs. Max Marsh and their five youngsters popped into Lincoln last week for a quick hello and good-bye. They are en route from Vandenberg AFB, Calif., to Goose Bay, Labrador and will plane from McGuire AFB.

... also picked up another interesting tidbit about a couple many of you will remember. We're speaking of M. Sgt. and Mrs. Art Mapstead. They left LAFB some time ago on a PCS transfer to Okinawa and now they're in business at Kadena (on Okinawa), where Rosemary is busy running the Okinawa Exports (glassware, pottery and things). Such ingenuity!

Town Talk

—It's a big, wide wonderful world we live in, and that portion of it labeled "Lincoln" is particularly active these days. Activity means news.

Although we subscribe to the theory that news is news before it happens — not after we do have some past to mingle with the future — and the present.

—But let's begin with the future — Next Wednesday evening, we are told, the Lincoln Duplicate Bridge Club will be doing something special — a dinner at Hotel Lincoln before the duplicate play begins.

—Looking ahead even a greater distance — to May 14 we find the formal spring opening of the Lincoln Country Club—Dinner and dancing, of course.

—The more immediate future —this evening—has a fun party on its calendar. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, who are about to begin redecoration their recently purchased home at 1234 Crestdale Rd., looked around their spacious empty rooms and the equally spacious terrace and gardens, and decided to have a party. No sooner said than done—the guests were called and they will be on hand for a picnic dance Saturday evening.

—This is the week end of the ever-popular horse show at Rim Rock Farms in Junction City, Kan., and Thursday was take-off day for a dozen Lincoln couples who are attending as performers — or as spectators.

We are told that the group will be returning home on Sunday evening.

—Mention of homecoming dates brings to mind Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. White who have been spending the current week in New York City where Mr. White attended a meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. Mr. and Mrs. White will return home this evening.

—Already back in town are Dr. and Mrs. G. T. Warren who returned on Thursday where they spent three weeks in Palm Springs, Calif., where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Messmer. Mrs. Messmer is the former Sally Warren, Pi Beta Phi at Nebraska.

Park PTA Annual Fun Night

Pictured as they prepared for the annual Fun Night program of Park PTA, held Friday night at the school, are members of the committee who are receiving some expert advice from principal, John Sipma, and pupils, Cathy Jacobson and Gary Hartman.

From the left are Mrs. Keith Pearson, Mrs. W. E. Brewster, Mr. Sipma, Cathy, Gary, Mrs. R. J. Reitz, Fun Night chairman, Mrs. Morris Roberts, Jr., and Mrs. J. L. Kuchera, PTA president.

Funds from the Fun Night will be used to purchase equipment for the school.

Congratulations!

Dear Abby-- Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Can you or anyone help me? I married this wonderful young man even though I was warned that he was only marrying me to stay out of the service. Everyone who knew him said he had only one love—his mother. She was all for the wedding but allowed us just one night together. Then she moved in with us.

If she'd see my husband kiss me, she'd cry all day. She refused to let me close our bedroom door. (I closed it once and she pretended to have a heart attack.) Then my husband moved his bed into her room and that's the way it has been for five months. He says he is sorry but he can't hurt his mother and, if I don't like it, I had better leave. I love him, Abby. What am I to do?

UNDESIRE: Face it. Emotionally your husband is still a babe in his mother's arms — and that's where he will remain until he agrees to seek professional help in growing up. If he refuses to grow up — talk to your clergyman. You are fighting a losing battle.

DEAR ABBY: I like a boy in the Eighth Grade. (I am in the Seventh.) Last night I called him up and asked him if my girl friend could have his picture. (It wasn't really for my girl friend, it was for me, but I didn't want to tell him that.) He said no.

Then I called him up again and asked him if he would give ME his picture. He said no again.

Then I called him up to ask him what time the basketball game started and this time his mother answered the phone and told me to quit bothering him.

I really like him, Abby. I want to know if I should call him up tonight and apologize for bothering him?

SORRY
DEAR SORRY: Don't call. This boy has your number. Forget HIS.

DEAR ABBY: I am a mess. I am 12 years old, weigh 145 pounds and am five feet tall. My problem is that my mother won't take me to a doctor to help me lose weight. She says if I don't have the willpower to lose weight by myself, I can just stay fat. (I don't eat as much as she thinks I do.) At the movies they don't believe I am only 12. They say I look 16 because I am so big. Please help me, Abby.

THE BIG GIRL.
DEAR GIRL: Lack of willpower is only ONE reason for excess weight. Other factors could be contributing to it. Only a doctor is qualified to make this judgment and recommend the "cure". Keep asking your mother to take you to a doctor, and promise her that if she does, you'll cooperate with him.

CONFIDENTIAL
TO "BEST FRIEND": Tell her. If her "best friend" won't tell her, she'll wait a long time before she gets constructive criticism from her worst enemy.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed envelope.

The bidding:
East 4♠ South 5♥ West 5♠ North 6♥
Pass Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead — ace of clubs.

One of the hardest words to pronounce, it seems, is "pass." It is hard to estimate how many thousands of points are lost, hand after hand, as a result of the injudicious use of bids other than a pass when the latter action is called for.

Here is a hand, fresh from a tournament, where West spoke out of turn. The bidding is not without interest. East, taking advantage of the favorable vulnerability, opened the auction with four spades.

The preemptive bid posed a difficult problem for South. Of course, he had to overcall with his fine hand, but the question of what to bid was not easy to answer. He didn't need much from partner to make a slam, but he was afraid to jump to six hearts or diamonds for fear he might choose the wrong suit.

So South overcalled with five hearts, hoping he'd get a chance later to name the diamonds also. This turned out to be the case when Westbid five spades, and South properly went to six diamonds, overriding North's double.

West passed, and North, looking for the maximum score, corrected to six hearts. When this rolled around to West, he chose to double instead of pass.

West led the ace of clubs and continued with the queen when East signaled. Declarer ruffed and led a low heart. When West played low, South, mindful of the double, finessed the eight, correctly deciding that West had all five missing trumps. The rest was easy, and South made the slam contract after drawing trumps.

It is possible that declarer would have finessed the eight without the double, had he been sufficiently inspired, but West's double drew a diagram for South which could hardly be misread.

West should have been satisfied with the six heart contract and maintained a stoic silence. The trouble was when he let the cat out of the bag when he doubled.

He should have passed.

State AAUW Convenes

MISS LUCILLE LEDWITH

At the Friday afternoon session of the Nebraska Division, American Association of University Women, which is convening in Fremont this week end, Miss Lucille Ledwith of Lincoln, was nominated as candidate for state president of the organization.

Other candidates for office are Mrs. Charlie Dunn of Fremont, first vice president, and Mrs. Warren Eckloff of Minden, secretary. Elections and installation will be held Saturday afternoon.

Saturday morning, a series of talks will be presented by Miss Ledwith, who is a member of the national AAUW legislative program committee; Mrs. Arthur George, state legislative chairman; and Miss Esther Montgomery, all of Lincoln. Highlighting the Saturday noon luncheon will be an address, "The Educated Woman as a Community Leader", by Dr. Anna L. Rose Hawkes, national AAUW president, former dean of students at Mills College, Oakland, Calif., and dean of women at George Washington University.

The convention opened Friday at the Pathfinder Hotel with Dr. Leona Mae Faylor of Kearney, state president, presiding. More than 100 delegates and guests toured the new Fremont High School and were entertained at a pageant presented by the Wayne Branch.

The banquet was held Friday evening with Dr. Walter K. Beggs, dean of the University of Nebraska Teachers College, as featured speaker. Other convention speakers include State Senators Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, and Richard Marvel of Hastings; and Dr. Orville H. Zabel of Midland College.

The 20th annual Square Dance Festival sponsored by the Lincoln Folk and Square Dance Council will be held Saturday evening at Pershing Memorial Auditorium.

Preceding the Grand March at 8 o'clock will be a concert by the Lincoln High School Band, and the evening will conclude with an after-dance party at the auditorium.

Bill Speidel will serve as master of ceremonies and special entertainment will include the University of Colorado Calico and Boots dancers directed by Harbert Gilbert.

Festival director is Dave

Rockwell and chairmen include Bob Gilmour, Mrs. Don Schafer, Roscoe Roeder, Jack Dill, Rolie Badberg, Dick Arnold, Jack Dale and John Rogers.

SUBURBIA

PARK MANOR

Visiting in the suburb this week were Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stanley of Anderson, Ind. The Stanleys who were the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Maj. and Mrs. Joseph Allen, left Lincoln Thursday bound for New Orleans and a southern vacation.

Hostess to the members of her neighborhood coffee group on Friday was Mrs. Wilmer Anderson. Included among the 15 guests present for the morning affair were Mrs. Anderson's mother, Mrs. George Higgins of Burlington, Ia., and her aunt, Mrs. H. K. Kriechbaum of Corvallis, Ore.

Incidentally, Mrs. Higgins and Mrs. Kriechbaum were the honorees on Thursday at a luncheon given by Mrs. Anderson. Twelve guests were invited for the occasion, and among the out-of-town guests were Mr. Anderson's mother, Mrs. Malcolm Anderson, and his sister, Mrs. Clair Miller, both of Wahoo.

Mrs. Higgins has been visiting in Lincoln for several weeks, and Mrs. Kriechbaum arrived last week. They plan to return to Burlington on Sunday.

Hear that Mrs. Kenneth Popp will entertain a small group of Tri-Delta alumnae officers at an informal dessert at her home on Tuesday evening, May 3.

As might be expected with June fast approaching there are a number of young ladies in Park Manor making wedding plans.

Miss Janice Rediger has chosen Friday, June 17, as the date for her marriage to Chester Arnold Beckman, and the 7:30 o'clock ceremony will be solemnized at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church.

In pre-nuptial courtesy to the bride-elect, her aunt, Mrs. Jack Rediger and her daughter, Miss Barbara Rediger, will entertain at a dessert supper on Tuesday, May 3, at their home in Milford.

Twenty guests will be on hand for the party, and during the evening a miscellaneous shower will be presented to the honoree.

HOLLINGSWORTH HEIGHTS

Among the recent visitors in the suburb was Miss Pat Rutter, of Coronado, Calif. Pat, who is a student at Coe College in Coe, Ia. was the houseguest of Capt. and Mrs. J. R. Hansen.

Cards Erupt In 8th

... SCORE 10

St. Louis (P)—The St. Louis Cardinals erupted for a 10-run 8th—biggest inning in the major leagues this season—and blasted the Chicago Cubs 16-6 despite a pair of 3-run homers by Ernie Banks.

The Redbirds—reaching the break-even .500 mark for the first time since July 15, 1958—slamed 8 hits in the inning, including a 3-run homer by Bill White.

They scored 7 runs before the 9th man up, relief pitcher Frank Barnes, made the first out of the inning.

Bob Miller, 21-year-old righthand St. Louis native, picked up his second victory. He had a 4-hit shutout until the 7th when Banks crashed a two-out, 3-run homer. Barnes finished the game.

Banks now has 5 homers for the season and 233 for his major league career, breaking the Cubs club mark of 231 by Gabby Hartnett.

The victory was the 6th in a 7-game home stand for manager Solly Hemus' men, who lost their first 5 games on the road. The Cards battered 6 Cub pitchers for 18 hits.

Lefthander Seth Morehead was the loser. He left in the second with St. Louis ahead 3-0.

Cleveland (P)—Woodie Held drove in 4 runs with two homers Friday night to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 5-4 victory over the Kansas City Athletics in the opener of a 4-game series.

The winner was Jim Perry, 24-year-old right-hander who gained his first victory of the season against one loss.

Don Larsen, who started for the Athletics, was the loser. It was his second defeat, both to the Indians. He has never beaten the Tribe.

Held's home runs were his 3rd and 4th of the season.

Kansas City opened the scoring in the 3rd inning when Ken Hamlin led off with a walk, moved to second on an infield out and went home on a single to center field by Jerry Lumpe.

NU's 4-Mile Relay Team 1st At Drake

... AMERICAN HORSE CUTS 50-YARD DEFICIT

Des Moines, Ia. (P)—A mid-meet downpour which virtually cleared 8,500 fans from the stands spoiled the opening of the 51st Drake Relays Friday.

Before a drizzle turned into a deluge, Australian Al Lawrence of Houston ran away with the two-mile title in the most one-sided victory of the dismal session in which 7 championships were settled.

The two-day Drake show reaches a climax today when 22 events will be contested, including a special AAU shot-put showdown among 3 super slingers, Parry O'Brien, Bill Nieder and Dave Davis.

Lawrence, 28-year-old sophomore, won the two-mile by 130 yards to lead off the soggy proceedings.

The final running event, two hours and a lot of water later, found Nebraska sloshing to victory in the 4-mile relay mainly on the efforts of a miler named Joe American Horse.

American Horse, running a 4:17.9 mile, erased a 50-yard deficit on the 3rd lap and gave Nebraska anchor man Joe Mullings a comfortable lead for a 17:42.6 triumph.

Jerry Marples and Dick Kier ran the leadoff legs for NU.

Lawrence, last fall's NCAA and national AAU cross country champion, jogged the two-mile distance in a modest 8 minutes, 57.4 seconds, well behind the Drake mark of 8:51.3.

2nd Place Battle

It was no contest for Lawrence, who easily won Australia's 10,000-meter olympic trial recently, but there was a hot scrap for second.

Kansas won a thrilling victory over defending champion Illinois in the university sprint medley relay.

Overcomes Kerr

On the 880-yard anchor lap, Kansas' Bob Tague overtook Illinois' George Kerr, 1959 NCAA half-mile champion, 30 yards from the finish and won by a stride.

Hastings Depth In Field Earns Mid-East Crown

2 Marks Set Despite Rain

... BEATRICE BID TOO LATE

By Al Beebe

Hastings used tremendous field strength to upset Beatrice in a rain-soaked Mid-East Conference track and field affair at Nebraska Wesleyan Friday.

Two records were set and another tied despite the miserable conditions, and all performances were surprisingly good.

Hastings garnered 35½ points in the field to take an early lead and hold off a late Beatrice bid.

Orange Short

	HOW THEY SCORED	30
Hastings	74 1/2 Southeast	20
Beatrice	44 5/8 Fairbury	15 5/8
Northeast	44 5/8

injury, but not enough to make up the margin of 11½ points.

Hastings got a record-breaking performance in the broad jump from Gary Engelhardt and double wins from weightman Al Curtis and sprinter Steve Regan.

Engelhardt, jumping in slightly better morning weather, got off a 21-11¼ broad jump, breaking the old mark held by Bill Hawkins of Beatrice. Hawkins went 21-7½ in 1952.

Lead Before Rain

With Dennis Albers coping the high jump at 5-11 and Curtis the discus at 141-4, Hastings had a comfortable lead before the rain started in the afternoon events.

More sensational running by Bob Hohn of Beatrice wasn't enough to catch the Tigers.

Hohn broke his own low hurdles record with a 19.5 clocking, and tied his high barrier mark at 14.6. He also took second in the discus, tied for second with Lincoln Southeast's Jack Cramer in the high jump, and nabbed 4th in the broad jump, plus a relay leg.

Regan beat SE's Jim Levy comfortably in both sprints, then flashed a fast anchor leg on Hastings' 880 relay quartet to wrap up the title.

Campbell Wins

Southeast got a first from Bob Campbell with a good 2:03.4 half mile.

Ground Is Officially Broken For Ellis Atlas Missile Site

By Dean Terrill
Southeast Nebraska Bureau
 Ellis—Paul Claassen's alfalfa field didn't look much different than at his last cutting. The only hints that a monstrous new "silo" was being started—as one of 9 Atlas inter-continental ballistic missile sites around Lincoln Air Force Base—were the newly erected sign on Highway 136 and some heavy equipment for building an access road.

Barely a dozen persons, most of them newsmen and construction workers, stood in the rain Friday for what had been termed the official ground-breaking for all 9 sites. There were no bands, no speeches, no ribbons to cut.

Still, there was a solemnity to the occasion as Maj. Lester Henderson of LAFB reviewed for the press the standby function of the long-range missile. As he briefly described the 96-foot weapon, the Army field engineer explained that each site would have only one weapon—and one pre-determined target.

"The Atlas will only be fired in anger," he continued. "There will be no practicing."

M. G. Schaller, engineer for the Western Contracting Co. of Sioux City, Ia., said all 9 bases in the $17.4 million contract are to be completed within a year. Construction also started Friday at the Cortland site, and 500 to 600 men should be working at all the locations within 8 weeks.

Henderson, field engineer for the Lincoln area of the Omaha district, said the "silo" housing the missiles will be 175 feet deep and 57 feet in diameter. A personnel tunnel about 50 feet underground will connect to the launching control center. There is a possibility that 3 more sites will be scheduled in the area soon, according to Schaller. Those already under contract (in the order work is to begin) are near Wilber, Eagle, Nebraska City, Tecumseh, York, Seward and Brainard.

It is expected that LAFB personnel will man the bases, perhaps being shuttled by helicopter since there are no living quarters on the sites. Although the Army is in charge of the steel and concrete work, the launchers will be turned over to Air Force personnel for electronic installation. No specific time has been announced for the bases to become operational. Mason Travis will be project engineer. The site is in Gage County 3½ miles east of Ellis on Highway 136.

A rain-drenched alfalfa field and muddy earth-scraper made the dreary setting as the first work started near Ellis on the 9-site Atlas missile complex which will ring Lincoln. Christians Urge Legislation To Halt Capital Punishment

... New Church For Lincoln, Fremont Asked

Alliance (P)—The 97th annual convention of Nebraska Christian Churches was on record Friday as advocating legislation to eliminate capital punishment in Nebraska.

The action was approved by more than 200 delegates at the first session of the annual meeting, which continues through Sunday.

Expressing concern about the care of aged, needy and helpless persons in Nebraska, the convention also went on record as advocating legislative study and action "toward

Churches Must Meet Needs Of Youth—Mrs. Rowe

Alliance (P)—"Our church and other denominations must challenge and interest the youth of Nebraska if we are to grow and increase our service to the people," Mrs. F.W. Rowe of Omaha declared Friday.

"We encourage our top young people to excel in the fields of science and engineering, but we have been slow to dignify the ministry by encouraging them to become clergymen," said Mrs. Rowe, president of the Nebraska Fellowship of Christian Churches.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Leslie Hudson of Minden was elected president of the Nebraska Christian Churches Minister's Wives organization, succeeding Mrs. Emmett Hass of North Platte.

Other officers include Mrs. Lloyd Bendmiller of Kearney, vice president, and Mrs. Ewel Vaughn of Nelson, secretary.

Chances For OK This Session On Mid-State 'Dim'

Washington (P)—The proposed Nebraska Mid-State Reclamation Project will receive a one-day airing next month, but the prospects for its authorization at this session of congress appear dim.

Rep. Donald F. McGinley (D-Nebr.), author of a bill to authorize the work, said Friday May 19 has been set for a hearing before the House Reclamation Subcommittee.

But, he said, Chairman Wayne Aspinall (D-Colo.) of the parent Interior Committee indicated there may not be enough time left in this session of congress to work out several policy matters involved.

The bill would authorize the multi-million-dollar project as an all-federal development under the Missouri River Basin program. The change to this type of project was made after a partnership plan with the federal government ran into objections at hearings before the same subcommittee last year.

"Chairman Aspinall had indicated there are some overall reclamation policy matters involved in Mid-State that must be resolved in executive consideration by the committee," McGinley said. "Similar policy matters are yet undecided in other project bills still seeking authorization."

Grand Island Minister Named Temperance Committee Head

Denver, Colo. — The Rev. James S. Chubb of Grand Island, Neb., was elected chairman of the standing committee on temperance at the General Conference of the Methodist Church.

Already on the conference committee on "the state of the church," Dr. Chubb had been named to the temperance group by the church's council of bishops.

Two other members of the Nebraska 10-person delegation were tapped for additional positions at sessions of the 10,000,000-member denomination's quadrennial meeting here.

The Rev. Richard E. Carlson of Scottsbluff was chosen an assistant secretary of the entire conference, a post he had held at previous conclaves, and also assistant secretary of the committee on missions.

President Vance D. Rogers of Nebraska Wesleyan University at Lincoln, already on the committee on education, was designated by the council of bishops for the committee on judicial administration.

Rev. Chubb

Two churchmen well known to Nebraskans were prominent in the opening-day sessions of the world-wide organization.

Presiding as new president of the council of bishops was Bishop Gerald Kennedy of Nebraska.

Hardin Will Give Hastings Address

Hastings — Chancellor Clifford Hardin of the University of Nebraska will be the main speaker at Hastings College's 78th commencement exercises Sunday, May 29, college President Theron B. Maxson announced.

One hundred and twenty-one seniors will graduate, according to the college registrar's office.

Warnke Death Probe Goes On

North Loup (P)—Investigation continued Friday into the death of Kenneth Warnke, 36, North Loup laborer, while officials awaited outcome of an autopsy.

Warnke was found dead in bed Thursday. Sheriff Wayne Turner said "specimens have been sent away for a check" but it may be Saturday before the outcome is known.

Eugene Pletcher, about 30, operator of an aerial spraying service, was jailed at Ord. No charges have been filed. Sheriff Turner said Pletcher admitted hitting Warnke 4 times during a fight in an alley behind a North Loup tavern Wednesday night, but claimed he never knocked the victim down.

Turner said Warnke apparently got home on his own after the fight, as his landlord, Rusty Peterson, heard him come in about 10:15 p.m. Peterson said Warnke washed up and went to bed.

Warnke, who had worked for Pletcher from time to time, formerly lived in Alliance. His mother, Mrs. Hattie Warnke, still lives there.

'MY HANDS ARE CLEAN,' SAYS IDOL CLARK

Washington (AP)— Dick Clark suavely swore Friday that his hands were never dirtied by payola.

But the handsome 30-year-old television music man told congressional investigators he knew one of his record companies was passing out money to other disc jockeys.

"This was not a particularly unusual practice in the business," Clark said.

He underwent long herded questioning by a House subcommittee searching for evidence of intrigue and misrepresentation in the playing of music on the air.

Clark, breaking silence after his name had been banded about for months in the hurly burly over hankypanky in the broadcasting business, confirmed he and his wife Barbara had accepted a fur stole, a ring and a necklace from a record manufacturer.

He said that under the circumstances — it was about the time of his birthday in 1958 — he reluctantly accepted the jewelry valued at $3,400 from Lou Bedell, who makes Era and Dore records.

He said he pressed on Bedell a check for $300 when Bedell gave Mrs.

Clark the stole only a week after she had bought one for herself.

"We were both embarrassed," Clark said.

He later learned, Clark said, that the stole cost Bedell $1,000 and was charged off as a promotion expense.

Clark testified he never accepted a thing from anyone with the understanding that he would favor the benefactors' music on his afternoon American Bandstand or his Saturday night Dick Clark show.

In 50 minutes of reading a prepared statement in the smooth, melodic and sometimes dramatic style of a network master of ceremonies, Clark said he never gave preferred play to any song in which he had an interest.

And he had many interests, as publisher, manufacturer, talent manager, disc distributor, film and television producer.

Clark went over his investments in 33 different companies, but said he has divested himself of all interests in the music publishing and record business.

"Gentlemen, I feel that I have been convicted, condemned and denounced even before I have had an opportunity to tell my story," he said.

Smith Lake Dispute At High Court

A drainage dispute which involves Smith Lake, a Nebraska Game Commission fishing development in Sheridan County, has reached the State Supreme Court.

The appeal was brought by Clarence J. Smith, owner of a nearby 140-acre meadow which he said no longer drains adequately because the Game Commission built two dams in 1949 to increase the lake from 20 to 200 acres.

According to the briefs, one of which was filed Friday by the Game Commission, Smith signed an agreement prior to the dam construction which included a waiver of damages. However, Smith contended it was not a waiver of the damages he complains about.

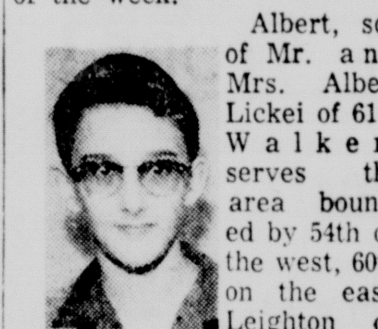

The District Court for Sheridan County turned down Smith's request for an injunction to restrain the commission from interfering with the flow of the drainage water.

The Game Commission brief said an uncle of Smith donated the land to be used by the general public, and the state has spent about $30,000 on the dams, spillway, fencing and trees. An improved highway has also been built to the lake.

Smith "now asks that this project be discontinued and it will be discontinued if he is successful in his action," the Game Commission brief said.

Meet Star Carrier Albert Lickei

Efficiently serving customers for the past 6 months has been carrier-salesman Albert Lickei, Rt. B744, Star carrier of the week.

Albert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lickei of 6115 Walker, serves the area bounded by 54th on the west, 60th on the east, Leighton on the south and St. Paul on the north.

He is 15 years old and is in the 9th grade at Northeast Junior High School. Algebra and woodshop are his favorite school subjects, while swimming and track are his favorite sports. Besides playing the clarinet in the school band, he is a very active Boy Scout. Albert received the Eagle Scout Award on February 23 of this year.

He has been saving a portion of his profit of about $22 each 4-week period to be used toward a college education. He plans to enter the field of science or mathematics upon graduation.

Albert believes in prompt delivery, and with such an attitude he has built an excellent customer-carrier relationship.

Racial Bans Relax On Washington's Building Jobs

Washington (AP)— Two Negro building craftsmen have been hired on construction jobs here in what President Eisenhower's Committee on Government Contracts termed a "breakthrough" against racial prejudice in the nation's capital.

The Negro workers are rodders, or workers who install reinforcing steel rods before concrete is poured. They were referred for work by Rodmen's Local 201 of the AFL-CIO Ironworkers Union, which had been accused earlier by anti-discrimination groups as having an all-white policy.

The President's committee said the two Negroes have been working for two weeks without any reported trouble on their projects. There had been fears white workers might balk.

MORE MILLIONS FOR AIRBORNE ALERT OK'D

Washington (AP)— The powerful House Appropriations Committee Friday recommended hundreds of millions of dollars more than President Eisenhower asked for missile-firing submarines, airborne alert readiness and other military preparations it deemed urgent.

But in its final form, the $39,337,867,000 money bill the committee sent to the House was only $121,967,000 more than Eisenhower's revamped military budget for the book-keeping year starting July 1.

Huge Sums Lopped Off That was because—in re-drafting key parts of the budget — the committee lopped off other hundreds of millions from administration proposals.

Among other things, the committee denied 293 million dollars for another conventionally-powered aircraft carrier which the House group said isn't needed.

And it pared by another 294 million dollars funds originally earmarked for the B-60 anti-aircraft missile which the committee noted "has had very little success" in its testing. All that was left to the Bomarc program was 50 million dollars to continue limited development, if

53,218 VOTERS REGISTER FOR MAY PRIMARY

Nearly 1,000 Lincolmites registered to vote in the Friday deadline rush—boosting the unofficial total for the May 10 primary election to 53,218 registered voters.

As expected the total maintained the ratio of about 3 registered Republicans to every two registered Democrats.

The unofficial deadline total of 53,218 compared with the final count of 52,702 in 1958. Unofficial 1960 totals were 30,745 Republicans compared with 30,885 in 1958 and 21,231 Democrats compared with 20,563 in 1958. Independents totalled 1,242 compared with 1,254 two years ago.

967 Sign Up Election officials said 967 persons registered Friday. It took a half hour to complete registration of persons inside the election office door by 5 p.m.

Friday was the final day for Lincoln and Omaha, but other registration cities have until noon Saturday to wind up registration.

The cities, in the 7,000 to 40,000 population class, include Alliance, Beatrice, Columbus, Fremont, Grand Island, Hastings, Kearney, McCook, Norfolk, Scottsbluff and Nebraska City.

Clinton Fails To Get Liquor, Beer Licenses

Applications for package liquor and retail beer licenses at Clinton have been denied in a split decision of the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission, it reported Friday.

The applicants were Nina Abold and Edmund Hollstein. Commissioners Nathan B. Pont and Ray Osborn voted to deny the licenses after a public hearing. The Clinton Village Board of Trustees had recommended denial.

Commissioner Frank Sorrell, in a minority opinion, said that evidence shows a majority of the people in the village favor granting the licenses.

Auction May 25 At Alcohol Plant Washington (AP)—The General Services Administration said an auction involving 8.7 acres and 20 buildings at the Omaha alcohol plant, will be held on the plant site at Omaha, Neb., May 25.

Miss Fort Sidney Is Janet Egging

Sidney (AP)—Miss Janet Egging, 17, Potter, was chosen "Miss Fort Sidney" at the annual pageant Friday night.

Bonnie Brown, 18, Sidney, named first runnerup and Miss Virginia Berry, 18, Sidney, was second runnerup.

The girls will reign over the Fort Sidney days celebration in June and Miss Egging will compete in the Miss Nebraska Contest at Columbus in July.

All-Ag Picnic Will Feature Food, Games

The University of Nebraska College of Agriculture all-ag picnic May 10 will feature a pie eating contest, food and games for adults and children, officials announced.

The picnic is to start at 5 p.m. at the north end of the college mall.

CURTIS GETS INVITE FROM EISENHOWER

Washington (AP)— President Eisenhower invited 16 Republican senators to a White House breakfast Saturday.

This will be the second of a series of breakfast sessions arranged by Eisenhower for GOP members of Congress. The purpose is to discuss the administration's legislative program and other party matters.

Invited to breakfast are:

Sens. Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.), Styles Bridges (N.H.), Leverett Saltonstall (N.H.), Abraham Ribicoff (Conn.), E. Caperton (Ind.), Bourke B. Hickenlooper (Iowa), Milton R. Young (N.D.), John J. Williams (Del.).

Also Sens. Karl E. Mundt (S.D.), Henry Dvorshak (Idaho), Carl T. Curtis (Neb.), Clifford B. Case (N.J.), Thomas B. Morton (Ky.), Kenneth B. Keating (N.Y.), Hugh Scott (Pa.) and Hiram L. Fong (Hawaii).

TRAIN KILLS OHIO MAN, 49

Holdrege (AP)—The body of a man identified as Clifford Eugene Hummel, 49, Mansury, Ohio, was found beside the Burlington Railroad tracks in Holdrege Friday.

The man apparently had been struck by a westbound train. Crew members of an eastbound train found the body.

Broadcasters Select Peck

North Platte (AP)—The Nebraska Broadcasters Association Friday elected Harry Peck of KODY, North Platte, president for the coming year. He succeeds Jack Gilbert of KHOL-TV, Holdrege.

The 1961 convention was awarded to Omaha.

Other officers chosen were: James Ebel, KOLN-TV, Lincoln, vice president; Richard W. Chapin, Lincoln, vice president of Stuart Stations, secretary-treasurer.

TV directors named were Bill Walters, KSTF-TV Scottsbluff; and Gilbert.

Radio directors named were: John Powell, KHAS, Hastings; Harry Snyder, KHUB, Fremont; Bud Pence, KWB, Beatrice; and Lyell Bremser, KFAB, Omaha.

Oppose Bill 3171

Among resolutions passed by the broadcasters was one asking that the Nebraska congressional delegation oppose passage of Senate Bill 3171, which provides for the donation of free time to certain specified political candidates as a requirement. The broadcasters contend that such a requirement dictates program content and in violation of the provisions of the first amendment to the constitution.

Earlier the NBA directed its Freedom of Information Committee to proceed with a program to get better access to public records and public meetings.

Scissors Backs Compulsory Driver Re-Examination

By Betty Person

Compulsory driver re-examination for all Nebraska motor vehicle operators was recommended Friday by State Motor Vehicle Department Director Alvin N. Scissors.

The recommendation was included in a 10-point program designed to update driver's license laws, motor vehicle registration procedure and increase safety which Scissors presented to the Legislative Council Committee on Traffic Safety, headed by Sen. Joe Vosoba of Wilber.

Re-examinations would be accomplished on a 4-year basis by alphabetical listing taking one-fourth of the alphabet each year, Scissors said.

To Help Pay

To help pay for the cost, he recommended increasing driver's license fees from the present $2 to $3, and suggested that 25 cents of the increase be allocated to driver education programs administered by the University of Nebraska through public schools.

Scissors also recommended centralizing the issuance of drivers' licenses, and motor vehicle registrations and titles under the state rather than at the present county level.

Issuance of driver's licenses on a centralized basis, he said, would give the state needed control over drivers and increase safety. It also would eliminate the 10-cent fee the state now pays to counties for administering the program.

Scissors also asked that the $1.50 fee for probationary licenses for teen-agers be raised to $2 and that 15 cents of each fee go to the driver education program.

Remove Slogan

He suggested that the "Beef State" slogan be removed from Nebraska license plates, leaving room to initiate a program to reward safe drivers through plate identification.

He noted the idea was first advanced by Col. Thomas A. Corbin, commander of the 818th Air Division at Lincoln Air Force Base, at a LAFB meeting several weeks ago and that it was his opinion the idea should be given serious consideration.

Under the proposal to centralize motor vehicle registration, as "a further step in accomplishing a thorough traffic safety campaign," Scissors suggested increasing the fee from its present $8 to $10 which should enable the program to be self-supporting and provide enough money to produce reflective type license plates.

Corbin also appeared before the committee to further outline his suggestion for different colored license plates to reward safe drivers and penalize unsafe drivers.

Royal Henline of the State Department of Education described to the committee the driver-education program now under the jurisdiction of that department.

Approximately 6,000 students participated in various kinds of driver training programs last year, he said, which represented about one-third of those who could have taken it.

He recommended that the program be left under the jurisdiction of the Department, rather than having it placed under the University.

Vote On YMCA Board Is Upcoming May 16

Members of the Southeast YMCA Extension will vote May 16 on a slate of 18 nominees for the board of management, according to the Rev. Thomas Huxtable, nominating committee chairman.

The election of the board of management is one of the final steps as the Southeast Extension gains "branch" status.

"The pen is the tongue of the mind," wrote Cervantes in "Don Quixote."

April Liquor Revenue Down

April revenue of the State Liquor Control Commission dipped under the same month a year ago and under March revenue but for the first 4 months this year total revenue still is holding above the same time last year.

Commission Secretary Walter C. Haase reported April revenue at $279,126 compared to $354,885 for the month a year ago and $311,717 for March.
